

the future office space –

WILL WE STILL NEED A DESK?

While those questions are up for debate, I want to introduce you to the PoppinPod. While the open office layout has become the accepted norm, privacy is still a priority when doing business. The PoppinPod offers privacy, power, ventilation and lighting to personalize your environment with dimmable lights and customizable color temperatures.

The Tagwall System is a multi-use, multifunctional system that allows today's employees to be more productive in a space that accommodates their office environment. The possibilities of defining your own office space within a brick and mortar building, offering acoustic abilities, and adds privacy in a nontraditional way. Not just attractive it provides cost-effective and quick-turnaround "prebuilt" office space for unoccupied spaces.
